In the letter to the Corinthians, Paul tells us, in three short lines, that love is made of many elements, such as light. We learned at school that if we take a prism and allow a ray of light to pass, that ray will be divided into seven colors, those of the rainbow. Paul shows us the rainbow of love just as a prism reveals to us the rainbow of light. And what are these elements? They are virtues that we hear every day and that we can practice at all times. Patience: Love is patient... Kindness:... and kind. Generosity: Love does not envy... Humility... or boast; is not arrogant... Courtesy:... or rude. Altruism: Does not insist on its own path. Good temperament: It's not irritable... reasive or resonouous. Guilelessness: or renore. Sincerity: He is not glad of error, but he rejoices in the truth. All these gifts worry us, our daily lives, and today and tomorrow, not with eternity. The problem is that people tend to relate these characteristics to God's Love, but how does God's Love manifest itself? Through the Love of Man. To find peace in heaven, we must find love on earth. Without him, we're useless. I love it and no one can take that away from me. I love my husband, who always supports me. I think I love another man i met in my youth, too. And as I walked towards him on a lovely autumn afternoon, I dropped all my defenses and i can't rebuild them. I'm vulnerable, but I don't regret it. This morning, when I was drinking a cup of coffee, I looked at the soft light outside and remembered that walk, wondering for the last time: Am I trying to create a real problem to ward off my imaginations? Am I really in love or have I just turned all the unpleasant feelings of the last month into a fantasy? No. God would never be so unjust that I would allow myself to fall in love like this if there was no possibility for that love to be reciprocated. But sometimes love requires you to fight for it. And that's what I'm going to do. In the pursuit of justice, I must ward off evil without exasperation or impatience. When Marianne is gone and is with me, Jacob will thank me for the rest of our lives. Or he's leaving again, but I'm going to get the feeling that I fought as hard as I could. I'm a new woman. I'm pursuing something that won't come to me of my own free will. He is married and believes that any mis-made move could jeopardize his career. So what do I need to focus on? By undoing your marriage without him realizing it. I'm going to meet my first dealer! I live in a country that has decided to disconnect from the world. When you decide to visit the villages around Geneva, one thing is immediately clear: there is no place to park unless you can use the garage of a The message is: don't come here, outsiders, because the lake lake view the majestic Alps on the horizon, the wildflowers in spring, and the golden tone of the vineyards in autumn, all are the legacy of our ancestors who lived here completely undisturbed. And we want you to stay that way, strangers, so don't come here. Even if you were born and raised in the next city, we're not interested in what you have to say. If you want to park your car, look for a big city, full of spaces for it. We are so isolated from the world that we still believe in the threat of a major nuclear war. All Swiss buildings are required to have precipitation shelters. One MEP recently tried to repeal this law, but Parliament has taken a stand against it: Yes, there may never be a nuclear war, but what about the threat of chemical weapons? We must protect our citizens. Thus, the expensive precipitation shelters continue to be built, and are used as wine cellars and storage spaces while we wait for the Apocalypse. There are some things, however, that despite all our efforts to remain an island of peace, we cannot fail to cross our borders. Drugs, for example. National governments try to control suppliers and turn a blind eye to buyers. We can live in paradise, but aren't we all stressed out by traffic, responsibilities, deadlines and boredom? Drugs stimulate productivity (cocaine) and relieve tension (hashish). So, not wanting to set a bad example to the world, we both forbid and tolerate at the same time.
